As of September 30, 2014, the members of the Board of Directors held 11,479,850 shares of the Company for a total of 14.40% of the share capital.

“Radisson’s ambition is to transition from mining exploration company to junior producer in the near future. Steps have already been taken in this direction, including the recalculation of resources (November 2013), the metallurgical study (August 2014) and the preliminary economic assessment of Zone 36 East currently underway. The addition of Jean Dion, a businessman with business and financial management skills, to Radisson’s Board of Directors strongly reinforces the expertise and experience already in place.
